

- 1. Cochairman of the event S. Wear Culvahouse, and Douglass Graneto
- 2. Zac Zimmerman with his sister Olivia
- 3. Cochairman of the event Debbie Nielsen with Scott Williams, president of the Red Ribbon Foundation
- 4. Jackie MacLeod with Kathy Slocum
- 5. Karen Baldwin, Dee Hickey and Julie Ostrover
- 6. Steve Eggers and Steven Haft

Seeing Red

The Red Ribbon Foundation hosted an evening of dynamic dance performances for more than 300 supporters at the Loading Dock in Stamford. The Parkour Free Runners scaled the exterior walls of the building, and inside, the red and white color scheme carried over to the food. The dance performances highlighted the evolution of HIV/AIDS from when it first hit the media to its current state where it has slipped away from the highlight of public concern. Guests also enjoyed world-class musicians Chelsea Lynn, Project Orange, and actors from the cast of Rent singing "Seasons of Love." Actor, philanthropist and ambassador for YouthAIDS Ashley Judd appeared in a special video message thanking attendees for their ongoing support. The live auction featured a travel opportunity to Africa with Ashley Judd, coveted internships with Elie Tahari and Nicole Miller, and a climbing expedition on Mt. Kilimanjaro. The evening ended with a dance floor full of revelers dancing to the tunes of DJ Jeff. The $700,000 raised supports award grants to organizations that demonstrate results and offer promising ideas for preventing the spread of AIDS. »

